THE FATAL FAILURE OF POLITICAL FUSION.

There never was such an opportunity to make common cause against the democratic party as that which was pre sented to error and fanaticism a little more than a year ago. One of those exigencies had occurred which often call the democratic organization into the fore-front of dan ger, and which sometimes temporarily overthrow it. The performance of a duty in the support of a principle, no matter how much power and popularity are to be sacrificed in the act, is one of the obligations of that organiza tion which give to it the strength and the endurance of a great political institution, and at the same time arouse against it many of the worst elements of politics.

The Nebraska question involved such a principle; and the maintenance of that principle also involved certain immediate sacrifices and temporary disadvantages. The de-mocracy took the straightforward course, and their enemics gloried in the opportunity presented to them. They remembered how their hopes had prospered when the deposites were removed-when the United States Bank charter was vetoed-when the tariff of 1842 was defeated and repudiated-and when the independent treasury was restored but they forgot that their prosperity was only transient, and that time and its trials only served to strengthen the foundation and the superstructure of the democracy. True to the past, however, they took the field while the democracy were applying a great principle in the settlement of a grave issue which threatened to divide the Union, and they contrived to secure various political advantages before the people had time fully to weigh th misrepresentations of the Nebraska bill. In the North the democracy were beaten in nearly every election, and fusion reigned exultant and almost supreme. But these results were not achieved by one faction alone; many factions temporarily combined into one and so succeeded. The abo litionists united with the know-nothings, and the two were joined by numbers of disappointed and desperate men. Happily, however, the time for the presidential election was too far off for falsehood and folly to hold together and it was not too far off for truth to vindicate itself an for the democracy to repel the accusations of its enemies There has, therefore, been time enough for the bad to be exposed and for the good to be acquitted; time enough for abolitionism to be denounced; time enough for knownothingism to be exploded; time enough for the whigs, who were nearly all lost in the secret lodges, to realize their mistake; time enough for the democrats who have been deluded to come out from these dens of shame; tim enough, in a word, for the national democrats to meet the future with a bolder and more united front than ever.

To show how deeply the failure of the fusion in th South has humiliated the whice, take the following from the Montgomery Journal of Wednesday last. The Journal is the whig State paper of Alabama:

"Returns are sufficiently in to indicate definitely the re-"Returns are sufficiently in to indicate definitely the results of the election for governor and legislature. The vote in this district has been the exuse of much curprise and regret. We shall hereafter allude to some of the causes. The main cause, however, is that in the peremptory dissolution of an old party many men are left outside, and, freed from all party obligation and alliances, roam at large, and even enter the premises of the enemy. It is an old Spanish maxim, never spit upon the threshold which raised you, or curse the roof which covered you; and never tear down the old edifice until you have secured a new one for shelter. Many have not voted at all, or not voted understandingly. Whether this error can ever be repaired remains for better efforts and better connects in the future. As it is at present, the democracy (we must make the painful admission) is walking, clate and triumphant, rough-shod on soil never before pressed by a loce umphant, rough shod on soil never before pressed by a loc foot, and in sections where we counted our majority by hum

The same confessions have been made in Virginia and other States by the very whig papers that were so violent and vindictive in their opposition to the democracy, because the latter have resolutely refused to make terms

Take next the following evidences of reaction in the northern States:

From the Chambersburg Whig.
The Philadelphia North American, Daily News, Bucks

Vork Ret Carlisle Herald, Gettyaburg Sentinel, Lewistown Gazette, Easton Whig, Beaver Argus, Pittsburg Gazette, and a num-Easton Whig, Beaver Argus, Pittsburg Gazotte, and a number of other whig journals, have recently given unmistakable signs of hostility to a secret, sworn political party; and the result most likely will be a distinct whig State organization and whig organizations in a majority of the counties. Should this be the case, as every indication now points to, the democracy are morally certain to elect their State ticket and an overwholming majority of the next legislature. We see no hope that anything short of defeat, and it may be annihilation, will make the leaders of the know-nothings give up their hopes of spoils; and thus, with the great mass of the party, honest and earnest in their desire to promote the principles of the whig and American parties, they are likely to be disgracefully defeated by the demagogues who have managed to get positions as leaders, and who are determined to rule the organization for their own personal benefit or destroy it. of the wing gracefully defeated by the demugy, to get positions as leaders, and who are determined to true the organization for their own personal benefit or destroy it. Concerted and harmonious action between the Americans and whige throughout the State is now hardly possible, however desirable, and for this the Americans are in fault. Had they abandoned their secret conclaves, and at an early day determined upon making open nominations, and permitting every one to participate in making them who desired to net with their organization, there would have been no movement made to reorganize the whig party, and, as a consequence, the Americans, with the aid and support of whigs, would have triumphed in the State. The locofocos, on the other hand, are already hard at work, and, though much embarrassed by feuds and dissensions, will make a desporato struggle to re-gain their lost ascendency in the State.

The causes of the confusion of the fusion are transparent. The great fact also appears, that the know-nothings are weaker in the South than the old whig party, while in the North they and their allies are breaking to pieces as rapidly as the democrats are coming together. Lust for office was the main element that brought these isms to-gether, and lust for office is now scattering them to the four corners of the earth.

THEIR TURN THIS TIME.

The South Side Democrat expresses in brief terms a truth that will no doubt be deeply felt by many of the whigs in Tennessee. The gallant Johnson cannot be too highly applauded for the manner in which he turned the patteries of truth upon the enemies of civil liberty:

"In Tennessee parties are so equally divided that victory scillates from side to side with the regularity of a penduoscillates from side to side with the regularity of a pendulum, now perching on one banner, and then on another. In regular order, this was the whig turn, but know-nothingism ELECTION RETURNS.

Every mail from Tennessee brings further and mogratifying evidences of democratic success. The congress ional delegation will probably stand as follows:

- 1. Watkins, anti-know-nothing whig.
- 2. Sneed, know-nothing.
- 3. Smith, democrat. 4. Savage, democrat.
- 5. Ready, know-nothing.
- 6. Jones, democrat.
- 7. Wright, democrat.
- 8. Zollicoffer, know-nothing.
- 9. Etheridge, know-nothing. 10. Rivers, know-nothing.

Four democrats, one anti-know-nothing whig, and five know-nothings. The last delegation stood, four democrats and six whigs. In hastily summing up the result of the recent election in Tennessee, the Nashville Union of the are almost all the direct triumphs of emigration. 9th instant savs:

"The legislature is still in doubt. In the last legislature there was a whig majority of teedees on joint ballot. As far as heard from, the democrats have gained nine and lost four—net gain, five. If there are no other changes, the knownothings will have two majority in the next legislature—ten less than the whigs were able to elect!

"Governor Johnson's majority will not be much less than two thousand votes, and the two remaining countless may be two thousand votes, and the two remaining counties may increase it to about his former majority.

"High-minded whigs, who despise know-nothingism even while they voted for its candidates, will find it no very pleasant reflection that the whig party could have come quite as near beating the democracy as this know-nothing party has come. Such whigs can now see that they have permitted their old party organization to be neurped by adventurers in politics, who have neither the ability to manage a canvass successfully nor the dignity the give any organization respectability.

and gratifying evidence of confidence on the part of the people of the State in the administration of Franklin Pierce." We have nothing further from Alabama by telegraph, The result of the election in Dowdell's district is thus announced in the Montgomery Advertiser:

"The extent of our victory in this congressional district may be judged from the results of previous elections. In 1840 the whig majority in the five counties was 1,357; in 1844, eleven hundred and sixty-nine; and in 1848, twenty-six hundred and sixty! In 1852 Pierce obtained a majority of the votes cast, but the whigs did not bring their organization to bear in favor of Scott. The democrats have always conceded a whig majority in the district of not less than one ousand."

The latest as well as the most reliable intelligence from Kentucky is contained in the following from the Cincinrict, which give Talbot, anti-know-nothing, 400 majority.

Nobly and successfully she turned back the dark waters of abolitionism and know-nothingism, and nobly and successfully have North Carolina, Ten nessee, and Alabama emulated the recent and never-failing example of the Old Dominion in her constancy and devotion to democratic principles.

THE PROSPECT IN ILLINOIS. Extract of a letter recently received from Charleston. Illinois :

EDITORS SENTINEL: It is with feelings of deep mortification that I sit down to detail the borrible scenes of yester-day. If what I witnessed is a fair specimen of "Americans ruling America," then the elective franchise is a mockery not intending to do so, we feel bound by every consideration and liberty an empty delusion.

and liberty an empty delusion.

The know-nothing blacklegs and professional gamblers, who are all members of the order, had bet largely on the result of the election. To win their bets by fraud and violence, hundreds of armed bullies were transported to the city. Their plans were concocted in know-nothing lodges. Their signs and signals were all understood, and during the terible day they were faithfully and promptly executed.

On Monday morning, at 4 o'clock, the places of voting in cincts, were taken possession of by the know-nothings. A few of the old democratic citizens in these wards were permitted to vote in the morning, but all others who were unable to give the signs were rudely thrust from the polls. This state of things prevailed to a greater or less extent in all the wards. If an Irishman or German attempted to approach wards. If an irreman or control of the policy, he was driven back with bloody missiles. Native-the policy, he was driven back with bloody missiles. Native-born American citizens who were unable to give the proper signs and signals shared the same fate. To entitle a citizen signs and signals shared the same fate. To entitle a citizen is what the public require. The object of Congress, if

Why should California seek to imitate the very power from which she has rescued them? Why should she allow faction to close the door upon the emigrant, while she herself invites him to an equal participation in the blessings of free government?

It cannot be that such a party will succeed in California.
